Lumi Global, a global leader in technology-driven meeting solutions, has announced its acquisition of Denmark-based Assembly Voting. Assembly Voting is a technology company specializing in end-to-end verifiable, cloud-based elections and voting solutions via its proprietary platform, Electa.

The integration of Assembly Voting's advanced Electa platform with Lumi's platform allows Lumi to provide a unified solution for live meetings, live and scheduled voting, and elections. This synergy enhances Lumi's ability to support organizations through every stage of the decision-making process, offering unmatched transparency, accountability, and innovation.

Lumi Global is a Vespa Capital portfolio company.
