Per Soon Larsen specialises in the sale or purchase of real estate (M&A real estate), including the development of property projects and establishment of various forms of collaboration.

Per is recognised as Rising Star by The Legal 500 within 'Real Estate and Construction'.

Per provides advice to a broad range of clients, including municipalities, pension funds, constructors, property developers and landlords. He is the trusted advisor to a wide range of his regular clients and business partners.

In recent years, Per has focused on the acquisition and development of properties with various purposes, including residential, logistic and public projects. He has vast experience within portfolio sales of rental properties, including project development of detached and terraced house projects targeted at major Danish and foreign investors.

Per has a wealth of experience in the conclusion of contracts in Danish and English, including contract management and risk coverage in connection with the purchase and sales process.

In addition to his engagement within M&A real estate and project development, Per has experience within mediation and conducts lawsuits and arbitration proceedings relating to real estate.

Currently, Per is a professional board member and Chairman of the Board of Directors a property development company, and is involved in several professional networks.
