Marlene Winther Plas specialises in IT law and data protection and has more than 20 years' experience.

Marlene is a certified IT attorney and is the data protection responsible person in DLA Piper Denmark as well as Head of IPT for all four Nordic DLA Piper offices.

Finally, she is listed in Kraks Blå Bog, the Danish Who's Who, and is recognised by Chambers and The Legal 500 within 'Information Technology' and 'Media and Entertainment'.

Marlene advises Danish as well as foreign businesses and public authorities. She assists clients especially regarding the negotiation and preparation of complex technology and data protection contracts, outsourcing projects, development projects, cybersecurity/NIS2, major technology transactions as well as within AI.

Furthermore, Marlene is a qualified mediator and is well known for her mediation in several high-profile IT and technology-related disputes. She is also a qualified arbitrator and deals with dispute resolution and litigation regarding complex technology contracts and technology-related law.

Moreover, Marlene has vast experience of data protection compliance projects and provides advice on data breaches and cybersecurity.

She also specialises in sports law and advises the association of Danish elite football clubs (Divisionsforeningen) and the Danish premier league clubs on various matters, including security, the enforcement of the common code of conduct at Danish football stadiums and the combating of hooliganism.

Since 2001, Marlene has been involved in political and professional activities within the legal sector. In 2008, she assisted in establishing the Association of Danish Law Firms and was its vice-chairperson up until 2016.

Experience

Recent highlights

- Marlene Winther Plas provides trusted advice to Danish football club Brøndbyernes I.F. Fodbold A/S and was in charge of the successive share issues by the company as well as the transaction that in 2022-2023 led to the transfer of controlling interest to an investor (GFH).
- Marlene assisted Brøndbyernes I.F. Fodbold A/S, which was the first football club in Europe to obtain approval to use Automated Facial Recognition at its football stadium. Through this assistance, Marlene has gained specialist knowledge of the legislation on the use of biometric data and AI. Marlene collaborates with Danish premier league clubs and the association of Danish elite football clubs (Divisionsforeningen) on security in the Danish football industry and the combating of hooliganism.
- Marlene assisted the Danish Agency for Public Finance and Management in a complex and extensive tendering process concerning an IT contract for operation and maintenance, legacy reduction and development, etc. of the Danish State's payroll service system (Statens Lønløsning). The system is mission critical and the purpose of the contract was to lay down the optimum basis for the Agency to provide an integrated payroll and pension service to all state institutions.
- Marlene assisted the Danish National Building Fund in conducting an EU call for tenders for a data-warehouse solution. The system was to assemble a number of internal data sources from the Danish National Building Fund, social housing organisations, public registers, etc. The second phase is expected to see a finance recording system being put out to tender. The purpose of the finance recording system, which will be feeding data into the data warehouse, is to create an enhanced control environment for social housing organisations in Denmark.
